

In this task you need to create a simple UI(user interface) with QtWidgets and connect it to the library, that we supply.

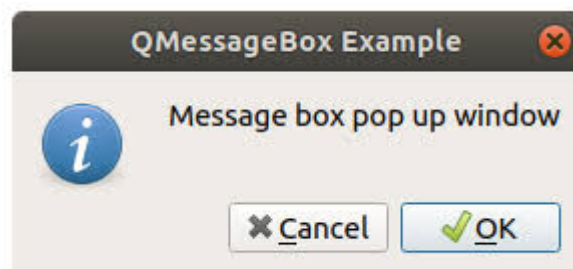

The UI has to look as follows:

ComboBox should contain three items. When current item changes – button also changes:

Depending on the button, you have to call corresponding function from the library and show its output in the message:

So each button shows different message.